Residents tell why they prefer Antioch to other communities

(Editor's note: This is the fifth and last article in a series on how and why Antioch is enjoying attractive and prosperous growth.)

By LINDA BARNES

In examining Antioch and its past, present and future growth trends, we have discussed something of population growth, housing development, commerce and community services.

We have encountered certain recurring themes; the rapidity and necessity of Antioch's growth, the changes in the way of life as a result of this growth, and the importance of a cautious and controlled type of growth.

As well, we have examined the attractions which have brought people to Antioch ... and the collective qualities of the people who comprise the community and have contributed to its development.

There is a marked and very noticeable feeling of positivity about the town, a sense of satisfaction with what it offers, and a feeling of sureness about the future.

ALL OF THIS is clearly recognizable in comments made by Antioch residents, whether they have lived here for only a short time ... or a lifetime.

Mrs. Sandy Moore, of 133 North Ave., notes the size and security of the town as its two best features. Originally from Lake Villa, Mrs. Moore states that a person can still shop in Antioch without fearing harassment or harm from local gangsters or gangs.

"I always come back," said Mrs. Moore. "When I was married, we travelled a lot. This has always been home. I feel secure

DELICIOUS CHICKEN DINNERS will be served at Sunday's annual Lions Club Picnic at Williams Park, between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Above, village attorney Andy Lynch showed his versatility and Lions Club spirit by working at last year's barbeque. Tickets for this Sunday's dinner are being sold for $3 each.

Antioch police arrest 3

A 21-year-old Lindenhurst man was arrested for stealing a tire and having possession of marijuana, and two men, from Blue Island and Oak Lawn, were arrested for failing to pay their restaurant bill and possession of marijuana in separate incidents last weekend.

Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller reported that Sgt. Charles Watkins observed a pick-up truck traveling south on Rte. 59 early Monday morning and stopping near Don's Drive-In. He observed a subject staring at another pick-up truck parked in the lot of Georgetown Furniture, Rtes. 59 and 173.

THE MAN LEFT his vehicle, police reported, and approached the other truck. He got into the vehicle and then left, but came back five minutes later with a bolt cutter about three feet long, police said.

Watkins reported that he saw the subject, Robert Thorsgard, 322 N. Lakeshore, Lindenhurst, remove an item from the truck and throw it into his own pick-up. Watkins then pursued Thorsgard and stopped him at Rte. 173 and 83.

Thorsgard told police his truck's tire

Meyer says he won't seek teaching job

Henry Meyer, former superintendent of the Antioch grade school district, said Tuesday afternoon that he will not pursue a teaching assignment in the district.

Lions' picnic offers fun for everyone

Question: What does Antioch have more of than any other community?

Answer: Fun.

More proof of that statement will be offered Thursday through Sunday.

On Sunday the annual Lions Club Farmer's Picnic will attract hundreds, probably thousands, to Williams Park from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Highlights include a chicken bar-b-que and an auction for the benefit of the Antioch Rescue Squad.

FROM THURSDAY THROUGH Saturday, the chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Maxwell Street Days "sell-a-bration" in downtown Antioch.

More than two dozen merchants will be participating, offering sidewalk sales and other attractions - such as the Jaycees' dunk tank at the Limerick Lounge.

Merchants and their sales people will be dressed in interesting costumes, as usual, and some are planning other surprises for the folks who flock downtown for this yearly summer shopping spree.

AT THE LIONS CLUB picnic, the excitement begins at 9 a.m. when the Antioch swim team hosts four other teams in its annual invitational meet at the Aqua Center.

Games starting at 1:30 p.m. will attract children and adults, with competition in six age brackets.

Entertainment will feature an appearance of Garfield Goose and the Muppets, followed by such games as "money in the straw," a pie-eating contest, sack races and a balloon toss.

THE AUCTION STARTS at 12:30 p.m. and Dave Heath, captain of the Rescue Squad, said businessmen and others are contributing items as they did last year.

"The Lions Club auction has been a major fund-raising

Growth taken in stride

Antioch's lifestyle suits its residents

Mrs. Ann Sundberg, of 297 Joanna Court, moved to Antioch six years ago from Dolton, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. Mrs. Sundberg is pleased with Antioch, especially its school and shopping facilities.

Mrs. Sundberg says she is in favor of the town's growth and feels there is a need for more apartment buildings.

"A lot of people move up here and may not want to buy a home. We are renting an apartment right now and I would like to see more variety," she said.

A WORKING MOTHER who preferred to have her name remain unmentioned, noted the rapid growth of the town. Having lived in Antioch for one year, she said even in this short time she noticed a great increase in the amount of people around town.

She added:

"I don't know where they are coming from ... It's gonna be a big town one of these days."

Another working mother who also wished to remain anonymous calls Antioch a "nice town."

"As far as Harbor Ridge is concerned, it's fantastic," she said.

Having moved from St. Louis about a year ago, she feels the Antioch area is much more expensive than the St. Louis area. She is, however, very pleased with Antioch's high school.

TOM STROSCHEIN, a senior at Antioch High School, has lived in Antioch all of his life.

"I think it's a real nice town," he said. "You don't see too many towns around like it. The people who run Antioch seem to be aware of the problems and work to make it a nice place to live."

Regarding the growth of the town, Tom feels it is inevitable.

"I think it's great as long as the community can handle the growth by providing fire and police protection," he said.

ONE IMPROVEMENT Tom would like to see within the community is some sort of a meeting place for young people. He feels a youth hall would probably not be well accepted by young adults, but rather suggests larger park areas where young people can come together and meet.

Mrs. Gail Heath, president of Antioch's District 34 grade school board, feels Antioch is an area where a lot of people come and stay.

"The nicest compliment your kids could pay you is to bring their kids up where you have lived," she said.

Mrs. Marilyn Sterbenz, our village clerk, feels Antioch has only the best type of people moving in. She feels the people of Antioch are proud of their community and its functions.

"We've got everything here for everybody," said Mrs. Sterbenz.

Mr. Tod Maplethorpe, Antioch's fire chief and superintendent of water and sewer, says Antioch is the only town for him.

"When I look at other communities around here, there aren't any others that I would move into," said Mr. Maplethorpe.

MR. RICHARD RENCH, of 667 Garys Drive, moved to Antioch two years ago from Arlington Heights. Mr. Rench, who commutes from Antioch to Northbrook

'Need park areas for young people' everyday, said he left Arlington Heights because of the great amount of people there.

"I think Antioch has quite a bit to offer," said Mr. Rench, who lists the school system, ample shopping facilities, recreational facilities and the small-town atmosphere as factors which initially drew him to Antioch.

Mr. Rench said that people in his neighborhood are basically from out-of-state. There is one family from New Jersey, one from Indiana, one from Kentucky, and one from Pennsylvania. All of these people moved to Antioch for essentially the same reasons he did, he surmised.

There must be something attracting them," said Mr. Rench.

Mr. Rench said commuting from Antioch to his office in Northbrook poses no problem. With the tollway, the ride to and from work takes only 45 minutes, time enough to unwind before arriving home. Driving on the tollway is much less taxing, compared to the half-hour he frequently spend sitting in traffic between Arlington Heights and Northbrook, he said.

WHEN QUESTIONED about the growth of Antioch, Mr. Rench said he would like to see the town remain small.

However, he pointed out the contradiction in that statement, since he himself has contributed to Antioch's growth by simply moving here.

"To inhibit growth is going to be ridiculous. I'd certainly like to see it small, but I'm one of the people who moved here," said Mr. Rench.

"I think the village board has done a good job ... we have never regretted moving here," concluded Mr. Rench.

In effect, he summed up some of the essential points frequently raised by Antioch residents.

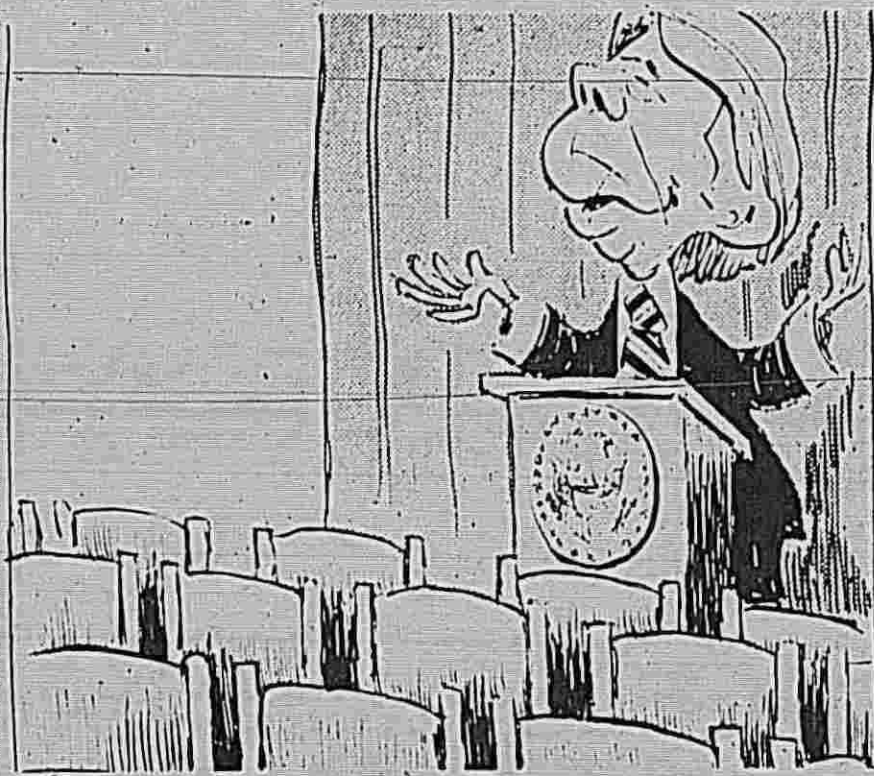

There exists throughout the town a recognition of the inevitability of growth, whether the people are personally in favor of it or not.

There exists a vision of the necessity of controlled and careful growth and, along with this, confidence in the type of regulated planning and enforced organization which village leaders have demonstrated.

And, finally, there clearly exists a decisive and overriding sense of contentment and satisfaction derived by the people who live in this small but very rapidly growing town of Antioch, Illinois.

Sometimes we applaud the wrong people

By JERRY PFARR

Billy Martin is a creep.

He is a cocky, little banty rooster who has been starting fights, punching people and shooting off his mouth ever since he became a baseball personality.

Last Saturday, 40,000 New York Yankee fans ignored Joe DiMaggio and other Hall-of-Famers who were being honored, and cheered for seven minutes when it was announced that Martin would become the manager again in 1980 - after he promised he would give up drinking (except for beer) and get his health in order.

THIS IS A JOKE. Drinking beer is drinking alcohol, too. Martin had been fired five days earlier for many good reasons. He drinks, he fights, he calls his boss' and players' names.

But George Steinbrenner, owner of the Yankees, wants to sell tickets ... and the New York fans like Billy Martin. After all, they are Billy Martins. They no longer are people with the class of Joe DiMaggio.

WHICH BRINGS US to the point. A friend noticed last week:

"Isn't it a shame that athletes, actors, entertainers, politicians, Richard Nixon and certain others get all the applause?"

What about your average, ordinary person who does a splendid job but never experiences the "roar of the greasepaint or the smell of the crowd?"

BUT, FIRST, let me dispense with Billy Martin.

Each week in the Chicago Tribune magazine, a fellow named J. Baxter Newgate presents "The National Challenge," a delightful column in which readers compete for coveted National Challenge T-shirts.

Last Sunday's winner was Marcia Rowen of Arlington, Va., who met the challenge: "envision a well-known person in a zoo and come up with a sign for his cage."

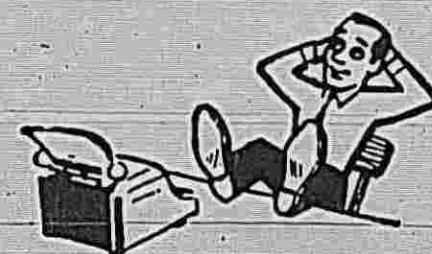

Marcia won with:

"Spiro Agnew: Open-Mouthed Cheetah (No Taxus Remittus)."

THIS WEEK'S CHALLENGE is to complete the following: "The neighborhood I grew up in was so tough that ..."

Newgate offers these examples:

the Pfarr Corner

"...the cops patrolled the streets in stolen cars."
"...at weddings, rice was thrown while still in 50-pound sacks."
"...the local pet shop sold only tarantulas, piranhas and scorpions."

I WROTE to J. Baxter Newgate and probably will win a National Challenge T-shirt for my contribution:

"The neighborhood I grew up in was so tough that Billy Martin moved to New York, Leon Spinks to St. Louis and Idi Amin to Uganda."

After getting rid of the Billy Martin types, we assembled 10 guys from the neighborhood and went around setting up "applause situations" for people who really deserve it.

I WENT AND GOT a haircut. When the barber finished, my friends charged into his shop, applauding, cheering and whistling.

The barber smiled and bowed graciously.

"That was nothing, fellows," he said softly. "For my next act, I'm going to use my skills on a fellow who has some hair."

FROM THERE, WE PULLED our cars into the neighborhood gasoline station.

"Fill 'er up," I said, cordially.

He did. And with the courtesy of the good old days, he also checked my oil, checked my tires and washed my windows. You rarely get that kind of service anymore.

My gang leaped from the cars and gave him a hearty round of applause.

"Aw shucks, guys, that was nothing," said the friendly service station owner. "He only ordered regular gas. Wait till someone drives in and orders premium!"

WE CHEERED HIM AGAIN and drove down the street until we saw a man up on a ladder, painting a house. Gosh, he was doing a beautiful job.

We parked our cars, watched for a few minutes and then burst into applause ... cheers and whistles of appreciation.

He was so shocked he fell off his ladder. We ran to his aid but, luckily, he wasn't hurt. He just looked up and said:

"Don't tell me. Let me guess. I've been named manager of the New York Yankees."

Meyer to end controversy

garding me would have a negative effect regardless of the outcome," Meyer said in a letter he planned to deliver Tuesday to the new superintendent, Dr. Donald Skidmore.

Meyer had said that his attorney felt he had a legal claim to a teaching job in the district because of tenure.

The school board subsequently voted to reject what it called "Meyer's contention that he is entitled to a teaching position in District 34."

Last summer the board agreed to pay Mr. Meyer $60,000 for one year to break off his contract as superintendent as of June 30, 1978.

In the letter Meyer said he was delivering to Dr. Skidmore he also said:

"I have recently given much thought to the question of my teaching in the Antioch schools during this coming year.

"There is little doubt that I have a legal claim to that right.

"However, there is a larger issue at stake here - the good of the school district.

"Last August when the board broke my three-year contract, I told board member Milo Bailey that I would not deliberately do anything to hurt the schools.

"I have come to the conclusion that any kind of continued controversy regarding me would have a negative effect regardless of the outcome.

"Therefore, I am hereby resigning as an employee of School District 34, effective July 1, 1978."

Residents claim top fair awards

Antioch residents captured awards at the Lake County Fair last weekend in such events as livestock competition, arts and crafts, domestic arts and bowling.

Some of the winners included a grand champion award in both the 4-H and open selling competition for Peggy Kanable's pen of three sheep, which sold for $1.90 per pound.

Also, Anita Gedville of the State Line Motel in Antioch was awarded three first places in fair competition. She won a blue ribbon for her multi-colored afghan, and a knitted sweater in the domestic arts division, and a blue ribbon for her decoupage purse in arts and crafts.

SHE SAID she has entered county fairs three times and has captured first places in as many events.

"That gives me incentive, something I really enjoy," she said. "But now needed replacement and he could not afford a new one, so he decided to steal one, police said. When Watkins saw the tire near the truck's floorboard, he also said he observed a bag of marijuana and confiscated it.

Thorsgard was arrested for theft under $150 and possession of marijuana. He was released on bond and has a court date in Fox Lake Aug. 24.

SUNDAY MORNING, police received a call from the Las Vegas restaurant that two subjects failed to pay their bill of $11.34. Police reported that one of the men walked out after eating and the other waited five minutes and left through the back door to an alley, where he jumped into a waiting vehicle towing a white boat.

At 5 a.m. that morning, George Kratimenos of the Las Vegas restaurant told police he located the vehicle and the subjects at the Channel Lake Boat House on Rte. 173.

When officers Watkins and Robert Stemm arrived, Kratimenos identified

James P. Browne, 24, of Blue Island, and Dino R. Bardelli, 20, of Oak Lawn, as the men who left the restaurant earlier.

While searching the two, police said they found a bag of marijuana on Browne. Both were released on bond and have a court date Aug. 24 in Fox Lake. Browne is also charged with possession of marijuana.

OFFICER HAROLD MASON responded to a call on Main Street last Saturday when he was advised of an "unwanted customer in a store."

Police said James R. Richter, 23, of Deep Lake Road, Lake Villa, had chained himself with a bicycle chain to two chairs and said he wanted an exchange of merchandise or his money back.

He was told by store clerks to come back when the owner was available. Police advised Richter that he could take his complaint to small claims court and to unchain himself or face disorderly conduct charges.

Richter then unchained himself and left the store, police said. No charges were pressed.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF Jack Wells showed his pitching form at the Jaycees' dunk tank during Maxwell Street Days in Antioch last year. The Jaycees will have local celebrities sitting in their dunk tank again this Thursday and Friday, from 4:30 p.m. until people get tired of throwing or all "dunkees" are drowned ... whichever happens first.

All about town ...

By LINDA WALKER

Chris Jackson is proud to announce that Woodland Realty has a new realtor associate, Pat Todd.

Pat is a newcomer to the real estate business and is loaded with enthusiasm and very excited about her new position.

She has lived around the Lindenhurst area the past 15 years with her husband, Frank, and three children, James, Marty and Shiela.

Pat has been active as a working housewife but always finds time for her favorite hobby, gardening. She claims to be a good old country girl at heart.

Pat said, "the one thing I really like about Woodland is they offer new homes as well as older homes. I'm very happy to be associated with the well-established firm."

SORRY TO SAY I missed Mr. Mauch at Hahn's Jewelers.

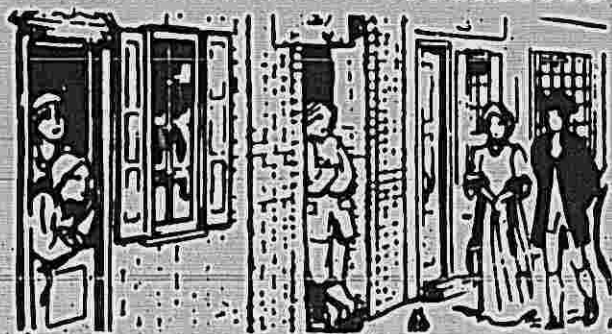

I stopped in to wish him well during his retirement years and unfortunately he had cleared his desk the day before.

We're going to miss such a fine jeweler and friend but know his retirement years will be filled with fun-fishing off the coast of Florida.

ANOTHER NICE summer opening ... Erwin and Mary Gaa are the new owners of the Wunder-Bar Restaurant (one mile south of Antioch on Highway 83). The redecorated restaurant features German cuisine but also carries the all-American favorite ... steak.

Erwin is a native of Germany where he learned the art of cooking. And he learned it well, as evidenced by the mouth-watering food he prepares such as sauerbraten, wiener schnitzel and his favorite, liver dumplings.

The intimate dining spot is open daily for lunch and dinners, but serves only dinners on Saturdays and Sundays.

Antioch has so many fine restaurants; we're proud to add Wunder-Bar to the list.

JAWS III is in Lindenhurst. Sitting in the lobby of Woodland Realty is a big (I mean big) beautiful gold shark.

Chris and her husband, Don Jackson, caught the monster while honeymooning in Florida last spring, and it finally arrived here last week.

Where they're going to put it is not totally decided yet, so for the time being it will decorate Woodland Realty's lobby.

It's hard to believe the newlyweds went scuba diving the day before the shark was hooked. Needless to say, they didn't go back in the water diving anymore on that trip.

I'M SURE MANY of you remember Jenny Lenczowski ... she was the crazy one who helped you with your cleaning at Ipsen Cleaners.

Jenny and her husband, Casey, are busy enjoying their retirement in Florida, but not too busy to drop us a little note.

Jenny was shocked to find my column without highlights several weeks ago, so she thought I could say "hi" from her to all the wonderful customers at Ipsen's Village Cleaners as well as Gert, Lee, Marilyn and their families.

Thanks, Jenny, for all the wonderful things you said about me. Of course, my modesty prevents me from printing them.

Glad to know you're keeping up with the hometown news.

ANTIOCH BUSINESSMEN will bring their merchandise out on the street Thursday, Friday and Saturday with prices slashed. The ever-popular Maxwell Street Days, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Industry, will entice shoppers from near and far.

For a head start on the sidewalk sale, be sure to check the special ads in today's Antioch News.

Upper Grade School sets registration

Registration for Antioch Upper Grade School will be held at the school's Library Learning Center from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 22 and from noon to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 23.

A complete list of required student equipment for all classes will be available at this time, Principal William J. Herbst said. Also, he said it is most important that students be registered during the times listed above. The instructional fee is $19.50 per student.

The first day of school will be Tuesday, Aug. 29. The exact arrival times at school, bus routes, and approximate bus pick-up times will be available at the Aug. 22 and 23 registration.

'Nanette' frolics happily on PM&L stage

By SUE NASENBENY

Take some good Roaring '20s show tunes. Add high-stepping tap dances, a splash of gymnastic color, a light-hearted script and a strong, believable cast.

And you've got the PM&L Theatre's production of "No, No, Nanette" which premiered last weekend under the direction of Tom Hausman and will continue this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

THE PLAY IS SET in the early summer of 1925 and begins in New York City. Complications arise when Jimmy Smith, played capably by Don Beveroth, acquires a fortune through selling Bibles and innocently lends money to three attractive ladies so that they "enjoy the good things in life."

He fears his conservative wife Susan, played aptly by Dorrie Hubbard, may become suspicious of his generosity if she finds out. So Jimmy employs the help of lawyer and best friend Billy Early. Bill Baum is skillful as the helpful attorney Early, who recruits his nephew Tom Trainor (Peter Thelen) to aid in rounding up the three ladies to pay the women off.

Tom, meanwhile, has been getting up his nerve to ask Smith's niece, Nanette (Rosline Scheske) to marry him. The two harmonize beautifully on "I've Confessed to the Breeze" (I Love You) and then Nanette reveals that she wants to live a little and "raise a little hell" before settling down.

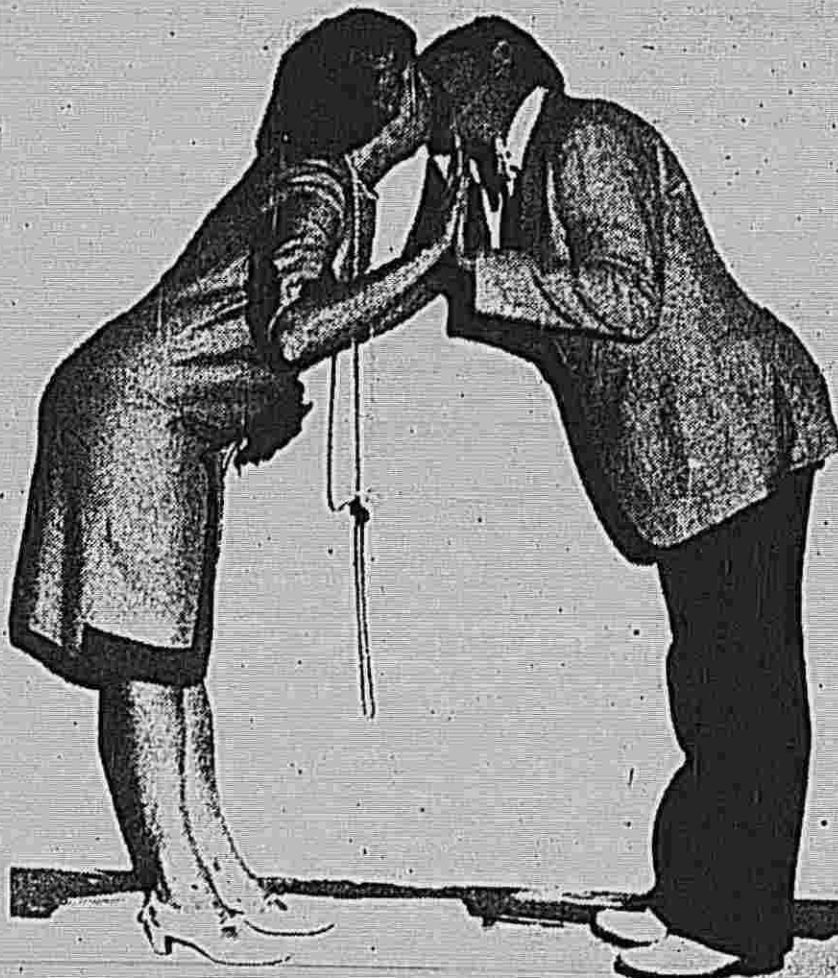

THE FIRST ACT produces some famous showtunes, especially "I Want to Be Happy" in which Nanette displays her exceptional voice and shows she can tap-dance too. She obtains the money from Uncle Jimmy to go on a weekend splurge with her friends to Atlantic City, N.J. Pauline the maid, played excellently by Lillian Allen, is the true comic as she plays chaperone to Nanette on the beach excursion.

Matters become complicated as Jimmy's wife, Susan, and her best friend, Lucille Early (Dena Fabry), also decide to take the weekend off and go to the Atlantic City cottage, the place where the meeting of the three women was scheduled to take place with Billy Early. Tom and Uncle Jimmy.

AS THE PLOT UNFOLDS, the three ladies, Flora from San Francisco, a real flapper played believably by Pam Guardi; Betty from Boston, played nonchalantly by Dee Baum, and the pretentious Winnie from Washington, played with talent by Irene Hahn all "want to be happy" as they demand $20,000 each from Uncle Jimmy for keeping quiet about his financial help to his wife.

All the while, Nanette is trying to become independent.

since everyone has told her "no-no" all her life, and she frolics and does beach gymnastics with her friends. She and Tom show they have the most talented voices of the cast as they sing one of the plays' most memorable songs, "Tea for Two."

TOM EVENTUALLY PERSUADES her to marry him, and Jimmy manages to work out his difficulties with the three ladies, but not before his wife Susan finds out. The third act, in its impressive cottage nouveau riche setting, unravels how Susan handles the situation.

"No, No, Nanette," is a play for those who like happy endings. The musical combines 1920's song and dance and the skill of director Hausman, music director Eva Harper, stage manager El Marie Beno and choreographer Pam Guardi (along with a good band) to create Antioch's own version of the production.

And its worth the trip to the theatre. The cast "wants you to be happy too."

Entertainers needed for 'Golden Moments'

Rehearsals have begun for the musical portion of the entertainment for "Golden Moments," St. Peter's Women's Club's 50th annual Salad Bar Luncheon to be held Saturday, Aug. 19.

Coordinator Sheila Schroeder said those who like to sing, dance or pantomime can still get involved in the program by calling her at 395-1547 for the schedule of rehearsals.

She added that participants do not have to be a member of St. Peter's Women's Club, and all entertainers, young and old, male or female, are welcome.

THE LADIES OF ST. PETER'S Women's Club, under the direction of Esther Aiani, will begin calling parishioners on Monday, Aug. 7, to request donations of food for the luncheon. Mrs. Aiani said this is a parish project, so please be generously responsive when called.

Pat Kenyon will be in charge of the kitchen service and said she needs plenty of helpers to keep the buffet tables replenished.

She asked those interested to volunteer their time between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Aug. 19.

She can be contacted at 395-5865.

'Red Shoes' cast set for play

Performances are set for 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 11 and 12, 2 p.m. on Aug. 13, and 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 19 at the Scout House on Main Street, north of the library.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for children and 75 cents for a group of 10 or more scouts in uniform.

Publicity director Patricia Sershon said reservations can be made from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday by calling 395-2160. Mrs. Sershon said there is a limited seating capacity so reservations should be made early.

THE PLAY IS SET in a courtyard in front of a village church, in Denmark in the 1870's. The time was chosen specifically by Hans Christian Anderson to reflect his times.

THE CAST INCLUDES more children than adults. Some of the children are Lori Koenig as Inge; Debbie Jones as Thora; Joanne Hill as Kristine; Jim Martin as Hans; Paula Bloomquist as Alice and Dave Moffat as Nils.

One of the bigger "kids" is Bill Slater as the soldier while Nancy Balmes (PM&L theatre) plays Grandmother Nissen.

THE OTHER children in the cast are Robin Millar, Ken Leahy, Ronda Stowell, Lori Ott, Eddie Roman, Chris Quinn, Chris Mattson, Dave Pinkham, Sandy Olson and Mary Pat Kengon.

Other adults in the play are Cindy McGowen, Ginnace Miller and Chuck Balmes. The costumes are being taken care of by Jennie Ott and Gina Pachece.

THE AUCTION at the annual Lions Club picnic is expected to attract a huge throng again Sunday. It begins at 12:30 p.m. at Williams Park. In this photo, taken last year, Jim Fields of the Rescue Squad holds up a rocking chair and members of the crowd start bidding as auctioneer Herman Behm, not pictured, urges them on.

THE LIONS CLUB PICNIC will be held again at Williams Park this Sunday. And one of the games the kids like the most is the annual hunting in the haystack for money. This part of the scramble for coins was photographed at last year's picnic.

A GOOD TIME IS PROMISED for all at the Antioch High School's 1933 class reunion set for Aug. 19 at Andre's Steak House in Richmond. It's the 45th anniversary for the Class of '33 and alumni that have not already sent in their acceptance invitations should send them in immediately. If you want more information on the reunion, call my friends, Wilma Gibbs at 395-0900 or Ruth Varner at 223-4951.

SUNDAY WAS A BIG day in Antioch ... not only did the Firemen hold their annual sensational picnic at Williams Park, but it was Jim Knigge's birthday, too. Congratulations to Jim on becoming a year older without looking it, and congratulations to the Firemen for emerging from their picnic without any noticeable casualties.

Tomorrow, Aug. 3, it's happy anniversary to Dorothy and Harlan Ware:

And best birthday wishes to L.M. Woods, president of the First National Bank, who celebrates on Friday, Aug. 4, and Ellen Badame, who is a "birthday girl" on Saturday, Aug. 5.

Next Monday, Aug. 7, be sure to wish Dennis Volling a happy birthday and stop in at Thompson's Restaurant to help Maggie Lenny celebrate. Also, on that day, lovely little Karen Lipinski will be 6 years old.

CONGRATULATIONS TO Wilbur and Darlene Gers, who are parents of a baby girl, Harriet Pearl, born to them at 10:10 a.m. on July 25 at Victory Memorial Hospital. The baby weighed six pounds, 13 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long.

Harriet is their sixth child. She'll be welcomed home by two sisters, Bonnie and Sheril, and three brothers, William, Mike and Tommy, who range in age from 18 to nine.

IT'S A BOY ... for Vickie and Lloyd Harvey. The little fellow was born Monday morning at Victory Memorial Hospital. We haven't heard his name yet, but if he's as good looking as his parents they can call him Robert Redford Harvey.

And it's a frog for Ron Van Scoyoc. We have it from a member of the Antioch Jaycees that, at their last meeting, Ron won a $20 bet when he followed through on his boast that he actually could eat a frog. So his friends found one in the pond behind the Brauhaus, and Ron promptly proved his bravery ... or something.

What we'd like to know is, who were those four men chasing the two mallard hen ducks in Smiley's parking lot the other night?

JOHN BLACKMAN PROVIDED the answer to the question we asked last week:

How did Alima Terrace get its name?

Mr. Blackman, along with Arthur Laursen, William Phillips (Phillips Circle, remember?) and Arthur Klimas developed Sequoit Terrace subdivision.

Mr. Klimas lived in LaGrange Park, on a street called Alima Terrace, so he decided to give a street in Antioch the same name.

We appreciate Mr. Blackman's phone call with that information.

Now, if only someone will tell us how Ida Ave. got its name? Was it really after a lady named Ida?

Swim team raises nearly $4,900 in annual marathon

By CAROL BERRY

The Antioch swim team, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, held its fourth annual marathon at the aqua center on Tuesday of last week.

The marathon's purpose is to raise money for the team. The goal is reached through the pledges swimmers get for each lap they swim. Prizes will be given to those who raise a specified amount of money.

A TOTAL OF 52 swimmers participated in the marathon, including Mr. Tom Kelly, treasurer of the team and father of four swimmers.

Kelly accepted the challenge made by Mr. Bill Brook to swim 100 lengths in less than 1½ hours. He met the challenge, though he missed his personal goal of swimming the lengths in an hour by one minute.

Four-year-old Julie Zavaski was the youngest swimmer in the marathon. She swam a total of four laps unassisted by her water wings!

JUDY HOUGHTON LED the group by swimming 416 laps while Jennifer Czapiewski and Ted White swam 412 and Cris Brown made 400.

Splashing through 300 or more laps of the pool were Shelly and Dave Volling, Kerry and Kaky Kelly, Bob and Sara Sutton, Craig White, Mitch Kruczak and Beth Haley.

Swimmers of 200 or more laps were Kim, Brandy and Tommy Nicholl, Margaret, Ann and Russ Ivy, Cindy Harrison, Bryan White, Karen Shepard, Cindy Morris, Ruth Rowan, Trina Spietz, Sue Harrison, Julie Wierschem and Kit Hoover.

THOSE WHO MADE their way through 100 to 199 laps were Matt and Laura Kruczak, Kris and Katie Shepard, Mike Fields, Eric Glover, Mary Ann Wawro, Ann Lallo, Kim White, Matt Zavaski, Kris Flowers, Colleen Kelly, John Wierschem and Stacey Harrison.

Swimmers who didn't make 100 laps but did their part in contributing to the 10,022 laps swam were Jerry, Robbie and Betsy Smith, Glen Lallo, Kirsten Kelly, Jody Garland, Cathy Haley and Julie Zavaski.

Assuming all the pledges are collected, the swim team should raise nearly $4,900 minus prize money and expenses. The money will help in the purchase of starting blocks for the 1979 summer season.

THE ANTIOCH SWIM TEAM won its last home dual meet of the season when it defeated the Kenosha Recreation team by a score of 291-170.

Antioch swimmers won 35 firsts and 32 seconds in the 50 events.

Leading the swimmers in first place victories were Brian Wogsland, Phil Jaworek, Julie Konchan, Matt Ludwig, Julie Wierschem, and George Bessette.

The 1978 summer season closes with the Antioch Invitational this Sunday, and the record breaker and party to be held next Tuesday.

I have to think of something for next year!"

Also, Laura Kruczek, 11, received a Grand Champion award for her French Lop rabbit named "Mopsy" in the "Other Breeds" division. Laura is now entitled to take her rabbit to the fair in Springfield for state-wide competition.

LAURA AND her rabbit were pictured in a feature story in the July 26 edition of the Antioch News. Her brother Mitch, 15, received a blue ribbon for his French lop rabbit, "Lou Boudreau," and also received an "A" rating for his bowling in 4-H competition.

Lynette Hamlin, 18, who also was featured in a story July 26, received a reserve grand champion award for her two-piece wool suit in clothing construction and a reserve grand champion for her crocheted cedar chest doily. She also received a blue ribbon for her music program selection in "Do Your Own Thing."

Her brother Mike, 15, received a first place for his dwarf rabbit named "Chocolate," and a first for an outdoor lamp he made from a wooden post.

THE TOWN CRIER

Wow, did I luck out.

Paul Kinas called and asked me to spend some time in the Jaycees' dunk tank during Maxwell Street Days but, fortunately, I have previous commitments.

But there will be others - folks you all know and love - who will be sitting in that dunk tank on Thursday and Friday evenings, starting at 4:30 p.m.

It will be outside the Limerick Lounge and the Jaycees will make sure it's a big attraction.

Our friend over on Lake Street told us:

"You can always tell when a fellow is married. If he turns his back when he opens his billfold, he's married."

DID YOU READ ABOUT the survey taken by the University of Nebraska? A total of 50,000 children were asked which they would rather have - a new TV set or a father. Half of the children chose the television.

Says something about family life in America, doesn't it?

A Chicagoan, Jay G. Bee, passed this way recently and picked up a copy of the Antioch News. He wrote us a little note, which said he liked the "good, American" newspaper and decided to leave us a short, but intense message on keeping government spending within sensible limits:

"What is a billion?"

"One billion seconds ago, World War II ended."

"One billion minutes ago, Julius Caesar was in power."

"One billion hours ago, man lived in caves."

"Yet, one billion dollars ago was only yesterday, in terms of U.S. federal government spending."

"What can you do, to slow down, at least, this destructive spending?"

"Join a national taxpayers lobby. There are plenty of spending lobbies in Washington, and strength is the main thing that those in power will listen to."

"Believe it or not, if we, as individuals, let this condition continue, we are a party to it!"

That's Mr. Bee's message.

An Antioch woman is very angry. We can't mention her name, but she told us her husband was off at a business convention and sent a telegram.

Unfortunately, it contained a typographical error: "Having a wonderful time... wish you were her."

A comet's tail always points away from the sun.

Safety courses offered

Youngsters who plan to enjoy the pursuits of hunting, boating, or snowmobiling should sign up now for the Illinois Department of Conservation's mandatory safety courses.

Persons wishing to enroll in a hunter, snowmobile or boating course should contact Thomas Gardner, Lake County safety inspector, at 5 W. Hill Top Ave., Fox Lake, Ill. 60020, or call him at 587-1835.

A NEW SYSTEM OF enrolling students in the safety courses in northeastern Illinois which utilizes more volunteer help has been instituted by the Department of Conservation, according to Conservation Police Officer Bruce Benstein.

State law mandates all three courses for youthful participants in these activities. The hunter safety course is required for persons under the age of 16 who wish to hunt but have never before obtained an Illinois hunting license.

THE BOATING safety course is required for persons 12 through 17 before they can operate a motorboat without adult supervision.

The snowmobile safety course, likewise, is mandated by state law for children 12 through 15 before they can legally operate a snowmobile without adult supervision.

Although the courses are required for children, adults are also encouraged to take advantage of the instruction, Benstein said.

LAST YEAR, 14,500 students completed the hunter safety course in Illinois. Prior to becoming mandatory, the course reached only about 7,000 persons a year, according to conservation police officials.

Unique golf tournament in Wadsworth

It won't replace the Master's tournament or the U.S. Open, but golfers participating in the inaugural Wadsworth golf tournament and Barnyard golf competition Aug. 12, will enjoy a unique experience.

The tournament is part of the Wadsworth Days celebration as a benefit for the Newport Township fire department.

One unique feature is the course, a four hole pitch and putt layout on the grounds of the Kennedy residence on Wadsworth Rd., just east of St. Patrick's church.

Players will be limited to two clubs of their choice and anyone scoring six or more on any of the sneaky four holes will be eliminated and sentenced to participation in the barnyard golf competition.

In the barnyard competition each competitor will toss horseshoes at a stake and the highest number of points for ringers and leaners will be worth a prize.

Golf and horseshoe competition will begin at 2 p.m. with strolling musicians comforting the hackers.

A Dixieland band will provide music for listening and dancing until 9 p.m.

A barbecue roast and an open bar will be available from 2 to 9 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at $15 per person at Glen Flora Country Club and other locations.

Spectacular crash at Speedway, but nobody is hurt

Waukegan's Frank Dowell won the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday at the Waukegan Speedway. Trophy dash winner Glen Rademaker won the 12-lap hobby stock main event.

Dowell led from start to finish and moved through traffic in the later stages to keep heat winner Tom Homan of Antioch in second.

Homan held off a late surge by fastest qualifier and heat winner Don Collins of Antioch, who finished third with trophy dash winner Danny Brown fourth.

The late model first heat was red-flagged when Bud Curington and George Felzer tangled in a turn. Curington hit Felzer's side sending Felzer into a wild spin. Curington's car went out of control when the throttle stuck sending it soaring over the pit exit wall and fence. It flipped end over end, coming to rest on its roof.

The car burst into flames but quick work by crewmen removed the shaken Curington unhurt from the car.

RECORDS ARE MADE to be broken and they were on Sunday night.

Bob Robel won the 25-lap super-modified feature with Jim Couch winning the 20-lap late model main event.

Darrel Dodd set a one-lap qualifying mark with a 15.25 clocking the lap after Gary Dye broke Robel's record with a 15.31 lap.

Robel won the trophy dash. Dye won the first heat with what he thought would be a record time of 2:39.45. Kristan decided to change that as he won the second heat in a 2:39.01.

Mike Frost led the late model main event until lap six, when Jim Couch broke out on top. Couch went on to victory followed by Don Collins of Antioch.

ALEX PETROPOULOS of Gurnee won the 12-lap hobby stock feature on Waukegan Speedway's "Family Night," which kicked off a series of four special Friday shows.

Vault captures Babe Ruth title

The Vault won the Antioch Babe Ruth League championship this past week by beating the Limerick Lounge two games straight.

Coaches said both games were real slug fests with the Vault winning the first game 17-6 and coming back to sweep the series with a 17-15 victory in the second game.

THE VAULT, managed by Bob Gatti, had won its division league with an 8-6 season record. Chuck Geist managed Limerick to an 11-3 season record in winning its division to set up the two-team playoff.

Dan Johnson scattered eight hits as the Vault won the first game 17-6. The Vault scored seven runs in the first inning en route to its victory gaining 16 hits.

Tom Christiansen paced the winners with a double and three singles and Dan Johnson had three singles. John Haling was the losing pitcher. Dan Schwabe paced the losers with two hits.

IN THE SECOND GAME, the Vault jumped on starting pitcher Dan Schwabe for eight runs in the first inning.

Tom Christiansen started on the mound for the Vault, and Limerick fought back for five runs in their half of the first.

The Vault continued to lead into the fifth inning as Carl Amundsen relieved Christiansen and held Limerick in check. Limerick pushed across seven runs in the fifth inning, highlighted by John Haling's bases-loaded triple to give Limerick a 15-11 lead.

Rick Ranney relieved Amundsen on the mound and held Limerick scoreless the last 2 and one-third innings, allowing only one hit to gain the victory.

THE VAULT SCORED three runs in the sixth inning to pull within one at 15-14 and then iced the championship with three runs in the seventh on three walks and Bob Gatti's double.

Steve Sheedlo and Bob Gatti paced the winners 16-hit attack with a triple and three doubles between them. John Haling paced Limerick with four hits and a walk.
